U. S. TROOPERS' RELEASE HAS NOT ALTERED PLANS OF DEALING WITH MEXICO

Mobilization of Militia Along the Border and Dispatch of District Guardsmen Will Go On Despite the Evident Relief of Tension.

LATIN AMERICAN DIPLOMATS RENEW MEDIATION OFFERS, BUT ARE PUT OFF

Secretary Lansing Tells Envoys Administration Cannot Consider Proposition Until Freedom of Carrizal Captives Is Confirmed and Carranza Sends Proper Reply.

Official notice of the release of United States troopers captured Interested in Return of Cavalryat Carrizal relieved somewhat the tension over affairs along the border. It has not in any way, however, altered the plans of the United States government for protecting its interests and exacting respect from the Mexican government.

It will not in the least alter plans for the mobilization of militia along the border, nor delay the movement of the District National Guard. This mobilization of the militia is in accordance with a plan of campaign mapped out in April, months before there was an attack on Carrizal in which the troopers were captured.

Overtures by Latin American diplomatic representatives in Washington today failed to win any enthusiastic interest on the part of the administration. The opinion prevailed that there was nothing to be proper subject for mediation until there was absolute confirmation that these trooper prisoners had actually been released and a clear reply from Carranza to demands that he state his attitude toward the punitive expedition into Mexico.

The minister reminded Mr. Lansing of the interest of all the American republics in preservation of peace, and said he would call again when Carranza's reply to the note of the United States had been received.

President Wilson considered the situation sufficiently relieved so that he took a trip to Philadelphia to address the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

A shout of laughter rose from the thousands of Mexicans who had gathered to witness the arrival as the negroes filed from the special train. The prisoners were dressed in the scantiest and most nondescript garb. Some had on only trousers. One wore a shirt, while a towel encircled his waist. Others' heads were decorated with bandannas.

Arguments of Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones admitted that at the first hought it seemed an outrage for Sir Roger to go to Germany, but he insisted that the defendant had attempted merely to organize an Irish brigade for use against the Ulster volunteers recruited by Sir Edward Carson. Mr. Jones was proceeding to argue that this did not constitute treason when the chief justice interposed. He explained he would direct the jury that the law was that "giving aid and comfort to the king's enemies meant assisting the king's enemies in the war with this country, and that any act that strengthened or tended to strengthen the enemy in the conduct of this war against us would be giving aid and comfort to the king's enemies, and that any act which weakened or tended to weaken the power of this country to resist the attacks of Tactical units of the National Guard of the District of Columbia are rapidly being whipped into shape for transportation to Bisbee, Ariz. The process of mustering the troops into the United States service is being pushed with all possible speed by Capt. Horace P. Hobbs, U. S. A., mustering officer.

Companies L and M, which have been D. C., were hurriedly recalled this morning in order that they might be mustered. They arrived in camp at headquarters companies also were mus-Infantry. If any of the companies which went into the service with their minimum strength of sixty-five men lose any on account of physical examinations it will not in any way delay the movement of the troops from this camp, according to Capt. Edwin W. Fullam, adjutant of the 3d Infantry. The men are then in the United States service, and will not be held back because they fall short of the minimum allowance.

However, it was served out in bulk and will not be distributed to the troops until their arrival at Bisbee.

troops were rejected on account of bad teeth.

Officers of the 3d Infantry began their physical examinations this morning, and this afternoon the work of examining the troops will be started. The eight officers engaged in this work have been working day and night in order to put the troops through quickly, and it was suggested to-day that if there was an urgent call for the troops of the 3d Infantry and other organizations there are about forty officers of the Medical Reserve Corps now in Washington who could be called upon to assist in the work.

It will take several days, perhaps until Saturday night, to complete the physical examinations of the infantry alone. It is estimated that it will be late Saturday night or Sunday before the 3d Infantry will be ready to move to the destination at Bisbee, Ariz.

Tenseness in Camp Relieved.

Although the mustering is being pushed with all speed possible, there is not the hustle and bustle about camp which was shown following the tilt between Carranzistas and United States cavalrymen at Carrizal. The determination of the Mexican authorities to release the prisoners has relieved the tenseness which was felt in this camp, but still the troops are anxious to get to the front in order to be there in preparation for eventualities.

Attention of all the camp officers now is being focused on supplies and equipment. This is what they want and it is the only matter which is holding them back. They are using every effort to get the men fitted out as quickly as possible and get them started for the front.
